Expedition Success!

First impressions of the expeditions have been a great success. The villages feel different as you walk around almost as though everyone knows everyone else. Let us know your feelings, post any comments, to the suggestion box or tell a leader.

Breaking the Rules

Not all the stories that we refer in this paper are funny. Four Spanish boys decided to break the rules they had earlier agreed with and leave the house without permission at night. That was during expedition and the stories come up with a sad end, they got arrested by the police and had to stay six hours in the Police station. Therefore they missed the visit to Cambridge and had an unfortunate day. Luckily everything seemd to be a misunderstanding and the boys came back safe to camp. Breaking the rules have some consequences and often they are not funny!

Dr Lurve Advice Column Girls Found in Cambridge

If you are confused, unsure or just have a question about anything concerning relationships then please ask Dr Lurve. He is here to help.

Post your questions in the suggestion box.

Mellis from Turkey and Sarah from Spain had a very enjoyable time in Cambridge but forgot the time, the coaches were waiting and they were still shopping.

David and Miguel went looking for them while the coaches started the journey back to Camp.

Meanwhile Mellis and Sarah found their way to an Information Centre and realising the time phoned Mersea.

Two and a half hours later they returned to camp safe and sound and a little embarrassed.

The Dr Lurve Interview with Mabel

Mabel you are the Spanish leader and you like to dance in a peep show, why?
