IT'S NOT A KNOCKOUT

Well, good start to the new improved flavour International Camp!

Someone didn't tell the right person that the start times had changed and it all went "a bit pear shaped" as we say over here in England!

But it still looked like everyone had some fun and got a just a little bit wet!

We have been promised another chance at the Its' A Knockout and we can have a proper go at the other villages in a all out competitions.

Let the games begin.

ONCE UPON A TIME...

Two young men from Turkey came to a very special camp. They had a wonderful time here and they always remembered those days spent in East Mersea. That was in the 70's. Now, 25 years after they first came to camp, they are still good friends and they found on internet that the camp is still running and they decided to send their sons to have the same experience.

This is how Igal and Rayka, from Istanbul arrived at camp this year.

One day will they send their sons and daughters to camp?

SPOT THE BALL

Mark where you think the ball is and check whether you were right tomorrow when we print the full version.

Have fun and maybe we will have a prize next time we do this!

SMOOTH AS SILK?

MARTIN (Close Encounters) is being quite active in the first days of camp.

Besides talking fluent Spanish with Spanish girls, he's been moving around all the time and he still found some time to check Julia' (Lost in Space) legs after she had shaved.

The test was made this morning on the dining room and now we can guarantee she's officially smooth!

STRANGE NOISES!

While wandering around camp last night at 2am, one of our reporters came across two Spanish girls in their pyjamas with a cardboard box carried between them.

They were giggling and squeeking as they walked towards the undergrowth at the top of camp.

Upon inspecting the box it was found to contain a hedghog, cowering in the corner.

The hedgehog had woken them up while they slept as it poked around in their tent and snuffled around in their clothing.

They boxed it up and went in search of somewhere to release.

Watch out though it may turn up in your tent tonight!

MORE ANDREAS HEARTBREAK!

Behind his "Mr. Nice face". Andreas seems to hide a dark side.

After having the experience of living in Close Encounters village, the french leader Sabine was caught by our reporters packing and rushing away to another village, she confessed to our reporter that she could not cope anymore with the constant attention of Andreas.

She has now joined the long list of Andreas victims.

We have found another nine women on camp scared every night wondering "will he show up tonight?".

Shut your tent, just in case. Be safe.
